WEST BRISTOL TOWNSHIP.

Amos Allen spent Saturday evening last in Bristol.

Miss Zenadie Vandegrift has gone to Trenton for the summer.

Mrs. Sarah Bowdan and neice visited friends in Bristol on Saturday last Master Harper Gibson, of Mount Airy, is spending his vacation with Master Jasper Lorimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Finley and Harry Balle, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Smith.

George McBride and family, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the young club house, near the mouth of the Neshaminy creek.

Mrs. Simmons, the mother of Thomas Simmons, of Cornwells, died at her home on Thursday last, having attained the great age of 92 years.

The dredging machine is still laboriously piling mud in the great gap made by the many freshets in the bank of the farm of Benjamin Taylor.

Miss Lizzie Lorimer, who attended the mid-summer tea on Thursday, evening, spent a short time with her brother's family, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Lorimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Peer, of Hightstown, N. J., and Mrs. Kelly and son, of Philadelphia, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Sinclair from Saturday until Sunday.

Mrs Harry Summers, of Bridgewater, entertained a party of eight on Sunday last. All had a delightful time and voted Mrs. Summers one of the best hostesses in Bucks county.

Mr. and Mrs. Peyton DeWitt, of Bridgewater, arrived home on Wednesday night last from Niagara Falls, where they stopped several days on their return home from the west.

Rebecca, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Polk, of Eddington, who for the past few weeks has been suffering with whooping cough, is much improved in health and has gone to her grandparents.

Mrs. Edmund Sinclair is quite ill at her home but fotunately she is blessed with the kind help of a good daughter, which is greatly appreciated by the feeble mother in her declining years of invalidism.

John Randall experiences no difficulty in finding sale for his truck, as it is always found to be just as he represents it. He always leads West Bristol township in having the first and best sweet corn, lima beans and tomatoes.

Mrs. Frances Mintzer has a number of summer boarders from Philadelphia. The greatest difficulty in taking boarders is the scarcity of good and proficient help, thus the servant question is discussed in West Bristol township as well as elsewhere.

The Ladies Aid Society is to be congratulated on the large sum of money realized on the mid summer tea, which is reported to be nearly five hundred dollars. The tea took place on Thursday, July 17th, on the lawn of the Presbyterian Church, Eddington.

Wilson Sinclair has raised more truck from the little farm he occupies than the same ground has produced in any one season for the past fifteen years. There are two other small farms in the neighborhood which Mr. Sinclair tills and all look in a prosperous condition.

Wilson Sinclair was aroused one night last week by an unusual noise in his chicken coop. Upon going out to investigate he found a hound dog fastened up in the chicken yard, and on a collar around the dog's neck was the name of "G. Donnelley, Florence, N J." How the dog got in the chicken yard is a problem Mr. Sinclair is trying to solve.

A sad accident occurred at the Bridgewater Hotel on Thursday, July 17th, when Helen, the five-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Charles Donoghue, of Philadelphia, was drowned. The parents of the child are travelling through the southern states, and left the child in the care of two aunts. Mr. Logan, the proprietor of the hotel, sent at once to Eddington for Dr. Stroup, but he being absent from his office, word was sent to Dr. Groom, of Bristol, but when he arrived he informed them that any attempt at resuscitation would be useless as life was extinct, the child having been dead over an hour. Undertaker Rue, of Bristol, prepared the little form for burial and the body was removed to Philadelphia. This makes the third child drowned in almost the same place in the last three years.

The Methodist camp meetings began on last Thursday and are to continue two weeks. Only those who have had an opportunity of hearing the stirring sermons at "Simpson's" can appreciate the open air meetings held in the beautiful grove, making the lessons learned there of lasting benefit It is a privilege that all who can should avail themselves of. They are afforded the opportunity of hearing some of the best clergymen of the Methodist faith, who are both generous and broad, extending the same welcome to all, no matter what the creed, and where is there one who does not enjoy those soul-inspiring hymns that can be heard long before one enters the grove? The cozy cottages and tents which are erected and occupied year after year, proves that each season is looked forward to with keenest anticipation.

LOWER BENSALEM.

G. Henry has been spending a few days at Cape May.

Rebecca Polk is visiting her grandparents at Fagg's Manor.

Mrs. Knowles and son, of Philadelphia, were the guests of Miss Roberts.

Miss Beatty, of Philadelphia, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Henry McCoy.

Miss Walls is spending part or her vacation at the home of Mrs. Louis Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Duffy, of Frankford, spent Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Dr. Stroup.

The congregational meeting of the Eddington Presbyterian Church will be held on Monday evening of next week.

The mid-summer tea of the Eddington Presbyterian Church was exceedingly well attended. The lawn was very prettily illuminated and a very good supper served. The net proceeds amounted to $450, and it is presumed they will reach $475 when all the returns are made.

Waiter "Beg pardon sir, but have you forgotten something?" Guest: "Forgotten something? Ah, yes—a toothpick. Thanks."

Larry: "So Cassidy wor th' last man?" Denny: "Yis, in ivery way. He wor th' only man at th' weddin' that had a flask."

Patient: "That's fine physic, doctor. I'm another man already." Doctor: "Ah, you'll soon be yourself again."

NEWPORTVILLE.

Have you heard the story of the "Eight Bells?"

Thomas Felix has gone back to Philadelphia to work.

Walter Jackson, of Tacony, was a Saturday visitor in this place.

Emelie Asay, of Oxford Valley, was a Sunday visitor in this place.

Mrs. George Dunlap and daughters were visiting in Trenton last week.

George Williams, wife and sisters, Misses Susanna and Frances Williams, of West Bristol township, were visiting William Woodward and wife on Sunday last.

Thomas Moffett, lately residing in Bristol, has become quite a farmer since a resident of this place. He can be seen in the early morn with his sleeves rolled up and hoe in hand in his garden.

Charles Mathews seems to capture about all of the milk wagons to repair and paint from Bristol. He has painted Robert King's, Edward Himmelwright's, John Betz's, and one for Charles Walters, thus far.

Stakes are driven over in Bensalem township for the Chinese building site, but we believe that will be about all will be done in the matter. We see that Wu Ting-fang has been relieved and Sir Liang Chen is coming in his stead. Perhaps Chen will visit this section in regard to the Chinese Institution.

"This summer this far has had but few hot days," remarked a young man the other day. "The only time that I have felt the heat to any great extent was one night last week when I was out walking with a young lady and her father chased me and made it hot for me for a while. But I came back, like the cat."

The best base ball game this season was played on Saturday last in Asay's meadow, between the home team and a team from Bristol. The pitching and catching of the home team by Austin Vandegrift and Sherman, the Indian, were first-class. In fact, all the players on both sides did themselves credit. Score, 9 to 3 in favor of the home club.

While the hay crop in some instances has been light, wheat will be above the average crop. Oats and corn looks well, and potatoes look fine. Fruit will be plentiful, and while we hope that the miners will win their strike, we would like to see the price of coal come down. If coal remains at such an exorbitant price, there will be lots of wood used and some men will have to cut wood who have been relieved of that duty by their faithful spouse, and will have a good excuse for having an occasional black eye.

John W. Birkey announces his candidacy for township committeeman. He has filled his office with credit and will be re-elected without a doubt Mr. Birkey deserves much praise for the manner in which he and his lieutenants managed affairs at the convention held at Emilie when they had to encounter a large body of insurgents, who did everything imaginable to defeat C. T. Headley for the nomination of supervisor. On election day, although the snow was deep and some roads impassable, he and his aids worked hard and brought out a large vote notwithstanding the cold and disagreeable weather which prevailed. He has always been a hard and fearless worker for the good of the party as has also his father before him. And furthermore he has always been the one thing. He does not believe in jumping at conclusions. He is a Republican from the crown of his head to the bottom of his feet. He is a stalwart, always was a stalwart and always will be a stalwart. He gives a man credit for being a Democrat if he is a Democrat, and a Republican if he is a Republican. We agree with him on this subject as it is the only way to keep men in the ranks. If an army was going to battle and half were in earnest and half were not they would not accomplish much and they would soon be scattered by the enemy. But if they all pulled together and were in dead earnest and fearless they would eventually win the battle. We have to be just what we are, nothing more. If we are stalwarts we can depend upon their support and will be opposed, of course, by the so-called insurgents—the element that is trying to break up the Republican party. Men who are traitors to their party—or men who are without a party, are not wanted. The Democrats will not have them and the Republican party does not want them. They want men tried and true, and not Benedict Arnolds. But the Republican party still lives and will live to a ripe old age. Men, be true to yourselves and you will be true to the Republican party and its principles.

Proposed Steel Automobile Road.

The Steel Roads Committee of the Automobile Club of America is making rapid progress in its work, and through its energy, together with the liberality of the United States Steel Corporation and the hearty co-operation of the city authorities, a thorough demostration will very soon be made in New York of the merits of steel highway system under various conditions of service. The chief difficulty was to get the special shape of steel rolled; none of the outside mills were willing to furnish it or even to take an order for regular sizes requiring prompt delivery, but when Chairman Seligman of the committee met President Schwab he found him in full sympathy with the movement, and ready not only to furnish the special forms and deliver them promptly but to contribute the steel for a mile of road as a gift. General Stone, the designer of the proposed road, has already conferred with the steel corporation's experts on the details of construction and the material will be delivered in six weeks. President Cantor has shown a warm interest in the affair, and by his direction Chief Engineer Olney is to recommend suitable locations for sections of the road. It is intended to place one in the heavy trucking region down town, another in a street of general travel, and a third on a suburban earth road. The track plates will be twelve inches wide and will be laid on special foundations of broken stones. An English engineer, who recently inspected the steel road at Valencia in Spain, reports in the highest praise of it in every particular. This road has been in use for ten years.

"What qualifications have you for a detective?" "Been in the coal business all my life." "Cannot see the connection." "I've been lying in weight for dishonest men."

News of the County

Special Correspondence from Near-by Towns

DOYLESTOWN.

The Rapid Transit Company, of Philadelphia, successor to the Union Traction Company, is reported to have purchased the Doylestown and Willow Grove trolley road. While the latter is a separate corporation, with George D. Widener as president, it has always been regarded as a branch of the old Traction company system, hence the purchase by the transit company is not a matter of surprise.

The annual statement of the County Commissioners to the Secretary of Internal affairs relating to taxables, etc., shows, compared with last year's statement, a decrease of $406,497 in the amount of money at interest subject to State tax. The reduction of a half mill in the county tax rate will reduce the revenue about $18,000. The county is free from debt with a balance last January amounting to $82,000.

Joseph Sullivan, who is believed to be an accomplice, if not a leader in the gang of highwaymen operating in and about Morrisville, has been landed in jail here by Constable Mason, of that borough, who arrested Sullivan on Monday. Hold-ups were very common in that locality, passing trains affording means of escape and the officers have been endeavoring to capture the criminals for years It is thought the arrest of Sullivan will lead to the detection of others who fled when the raid was made.

Judge Weand, acting for Judge Yerkes, filed an opinion here on Saturday morning containing the injunction against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, restraining that corporation from interfering with the Bucks County Heat, Light and Power Company at Croydon, the scene of recent riotious proceedings. Judge Weand took occasion to say that violent methods were not the proper way to settle disputes of this character. Following the injunction proceedings heavy suits for damages have been instituted by counsel for the power company. They are three in number aggregating $50,000. In addition warrants have been issued in criminal proceedings against two of the Pegasy's officials.

Town council has at last taken favorable action upon the Doylestown and New Hope trolley ordinance presented by the company of which Recorder Michner is President. This ordinance has been held up upon the plea that council had already granted right of way to another company desiring to build between the two boroughs over the turnpikes, but as the latter company made no attempt to carry out the project council was compelled to concede to the demands of the rival corporation. The latter will construct a road through Mechanicsville, tapping the Delaware river road at Phillips mill, below Centre Bridge. The officers say they are in shape to push the project and were only awaiting favorable action by council, which they have now secured. The road will "fill a long-felt want in the community" and will be the first to go from the county seat to the Delaware unless the Doylestown and Easton builds a branch from Danboro to Point Pleasant before the New Hope road is under way.

Following the announcement that Abbey would do the mural decorations and Bernard the sculpture in the new State Capitol, is the statement that Bucks county will be represented by the tiles of Henry C. Mercer on the corridor floors. This should be a matter of pride to the people of the county and doubtless they will be interested in a brief account of Mr. Mercer's work. The maker of the "Moravian" tiles, as they are termed, is widely known in the county through his historic work, that of a local character chiefly comprising the splendid collection of the Bucks County Historical Society known as the "Tools of the Nation-Makers." Mr. Mercer is a grandson of the late Judge Chapman, of Doylestown. After graduating at Harvard and studying law, he took up the profession of archaeology, in which he achieved success. His last important work in this field was in taking charge of the Corwith expedition to Yucatan. Feeling the need of rest after several years of arduous work in this and foreign lands, he returned to Doylestown and pursued at his leisure the collection of implements for the Historical Society. He also made a duplicate collection for himself, which is displayed in "Indian House," a large and picturesque studio that stands on the lawn near the family mansion and now the designing room of the pottery. It was while engaged in collecting relics of the early life of the people that Mr. Mercer ran across some old German stove plates in cast iron, the surfaces of which were decorated in raised designs. He conceived the idea of reproducing these in tiles. Then began endless experiments involving the secrets of the potter's art in the manipulation of clay, burning of kilns and the making of glazes. An important discovery was the artistic effect obtained by rubbing the tiles. Another was the advantage of retaining the appearances of hand made ware. From wall tiles and plaques other ornaments were designed, each being treated by the same process. The result was something beyond the power of machinery to produce. With his mind concentrated on this subject Mr. Mercer, on his annual pilgrimages to Europe, naturally hunted up everything of interest in the way of tiles. His attention was thus directed to the wonderful old floor tiles found in ruined abbeys and churches in England, Germany and Spain. He found that they could be reproduced by his process and here was a new and much wider field. He began experiments in that direction. People of artistic taste saw the merit of the tiles, that they were not only good in that respect but original, and the orders began to arrive with the result that the Moravian tiles are now found in the most artistic homes in the country. In addition to the making of tiles Mr. Mercer found it possible to produce by his method endless designs for plaques, the wide pointing and richly colored but unglazed clay making them richer than a mosaic. The State Capitol offered a splendid opportunity for the exercise of talent in this direction. Architect Huston was quick to perceive this and fence the assignment of the corridor work to the Doylestown pottery. It would be impossible to describe the effect of the tiles. Only colored plates or the tiles themselves convey the full impression of richness in coloring and artistic design and arrangement. Where they differ chiefly from others is in the absence of mechanical effect. While the tiles of a certain design are alike in a sense, they are not alike, any more than people are alike. In no two are the color and form precisely the same, and this is the secret of the maker's method and their charm. Mr. Mercer's designs for the Capitol floors will include plaques representing county seals or historic events associated with a county where the seal is not original or for other reasons unavailable. His first experiment in this direction was the seal of Bucks, a beautiful design of the vine and tree. It is his purpose at present to have every county in the State thus represented in the Capitol. It is an important work involving much thought and patience and if carried out successfully Bucks county will be justified in feeling proud of her contribution to a public building the architect will endeavor to make the finest of its kind in America.

Judge Briggs has reason to be gratified at his success in inducing the borough council to organize. It is doubtful if the deadlock would have been broken had not the Judge used his influence with both parties to effect the organization. As a harmonizer Judge Briggs is an eminent success.

A special meeting of Tullytown council was held last Friday evening to receive report of the Finance committee in regards to negotiating a loan of $1000, as there were several parties willing to loan the money the Finance committee was instructed to make the best terms possible and report to the next regular meeting.

The William Penn Mutual Building and Loan Association held its regular monthly meeting last Monday evening and it was decided to issue a new series of stock at the next regular meeting. There has been a number of applications for new stock and as this is one of the best managed associations in this district there will no doubt be a number of people subscribe for stock in the new series.

Harry Watson, of Fallsington, has received the contract to erect a new barn on the Catherine B. Norcross farm in Penn's Manor. A. B. Shoemaker, of this borough, has received the contract to furnish the lumber. Mr. Watson says he can purchase better lumber at lower prices from Mr. Shoemaker than he can by going outside the county. This is a pointer to local people to patronize home markets.

Oscar P. Chamberlain spent three days last week in different sections of the county looking after his fences in his canvass for nomination for the Assembly. There has never been a candidate for an office who has been more popular with the people and the promises of support that Mr. Chamberlain has received in different sections of the county goes to show that the claim of Mr. Chamberlain's friends that he would land an easy winner for the nomination is no idle boast.

Dickel's; Clarence Wilkes, of Jersey City, and Mrs. James Nolan and children of Trenton, at William Wilkes.

Again, and for the last time, we want to draw the attention of all lovers of music, and of all those who are not averse to a good time, to the fact that a grand concert is going to be held at the Penn Valley Church on Saturday evening, July 26, beginning at 8 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to give a full evening of delightful, pleasing entertainment. Other attempts at concert giving have been made, it is true, but we would assure our friends that this concert is different and far above any previous attempt at Penn Valley. A glance at part of the programme will tell the story. Selections by Miss F. White organ; Mr. Manning, cornet; Mr. N. Kellmayer cornet; Mr. Woolsey, violin. Instrumental trios and duets will also be rendered. Beside these there will be selections by members of the colored minstrels. LANGHORNE.

The storm of Tuesday destroyed a number of fruit trees in Langhorne and vicinity.

A son of Grant Gibbs, colored, of Langhorne, died at the home of his parents on Saturday.

There has been added to the Langhorne rabbitry a very beautiful young hare of the "Fashoda" strain.

Mrs. Jean Blackall, of Bala, Pa., formerly of Langhorne, was visiting old friends here on Friday.

Walter Doyle lost an infant son Sunday July 20th. Mr. Doyle is a bartender at Edward Hogeland's hotel.

The base ball team of the Country Club took a victory from the Wyncote team by a score of 8 to 5, on Saturday.

Harry Johnson, of this place, has taken a position as motorman with the Union Traction Company, of Philadelphia.

The work of the Langhorne machanics on the old building at Maple and Bellevue avenues may be declared slow but sure.

Dr. Henry Lovett contemplates sending his valuable pointer dog to Virginia in a few weeks to be broken for work this fall.

The annual picnic of the Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday schools will be held on the 7th day of August at Neshaminy Falls.

Yes, along with the butcher, baker, banker, barrister, priest, politician, statesman and healer, comes the Quaker with a Panama.

Notice has been given to the tax payers of Langhorne that the borough and school taxes are due, which if paid before the 1st of September, 1902, will be subject to a discount.

Langhorne was in darkness for some time on Tuesday night, the storm having done serious damage at the electric plant in Attleboro. Business for a time was suspended.

The building formerly occupied by the People's National Bank, promises to be a very beautiful drug store, which will be the property of a much respected business man, Dr. P. M. Minster.

J. Pierce Flowers, Harvey Gillam and J. Cunton Kirk took leave of Langhorne on Tuesday for a few days fishing at Martin's club house, Manahawken. They returned Friday much pleased with the trip.

The property recently purchased by William B. Parry, of Langhorne, from the old Tomlinson estate, in whose hands the building has been held since it was first built, promises a fine business location for offices and stores.

The Langhorne Temperance Society supports a very promising base ball team. If the boys hold up the reputation won by their forefathers in this line, they will be able to make a good showing before the end of the season.

The ball game which took place at Langhorne between the Eclipse, of Morrisville, and the home team was one that impresses upon the boys of this place a sad opinion of themselves, having been beaten by a score of 17 to 0.

The people of Langhorne have been favored with a little entertainment for several evenings recently, by the songs of a very attractive vocal soloist, who is stopping at the Bellevue hotel for a few weeks. She intends going to Germany soon to finish her musical education.

The members of the Bucks County Country Club have been taking advantage of the beautiful days recently to play golf on the links, which are located on the most attractive site in the county. Among those frequently seen there are E. Cooper Shapley, Bent. Candy and J. Clinton Kirk.

The annual camp meeting opened Sunday services July 20th at Trevose. The camp was attended by a large number of persons. Rev. Samuel McBurney, of Philadelphia, was the principal speaker, followed by several very interesting and helpful teachers of the Gospel. Mr. Andrews contributed to the song service.

Mrs. Annie Lovett, of Langhorne, died Tuesday, July 15th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Ridge, on Bellevue avenue, from where she was buried July 18th. Rev. Joseph T. Wright, rector of the Hulmeville Episcopal Church, conducte the services. The interment was made at the Langhorne Methodist graveyard. Dr. Henry Lovett is a son of the deceased.

While the team belonging to John Foster, of Asbury Park, was standing tied at the camp grounds the other day at Trevose, (Simpson Grove), two small boys took possession of it and tried to sell it in the neighborhood. Upon failing to find a purchaser, the team was returned by one of the boys when he was captured and sent to jail. The thought of so young a person being placed in jail upon his complaint was so distasteful to Mr. Foster that he endeavored to have the youth released, but was overruled by the authorities, who would not listen to the passing over of such a crime, so the lads were placed in jail to serve their sentence. The lads were 12 and 14 years of age.

The Eclipse, the second ball team here, journeyed to Langhorne last Saturday and won a decisive victory. The Langhorne team were unable to solve Flynn's delivery, succeeding in getting only one hit. The final score was 17 to 0. The regular team had a decidedly different story to tell, being sadly defeated by the Y. M. C. A. by a score of 8 to 4, but as in all cases when they lose they were "robbed by the umpire."

The cut-off yards just above here was the scene of another bold hold-up last Saturday night when Daniel Smith, a young man employed by Sims & Co., was relieved of $79 and was also so badly handled by the highwaymen that he was taken to the hospital in Trenton. The young man was on his way to his home in Harrisburg and had gone to the yards to take a fast freight. While walking along the train he was met by three men who ordered him to throw up his hands and as he did not comply at once with the command, one of them struck him on the head with a piece of pipe The blow rendered him unconscious and the men rifled his pockets of everything he had He was discovered by the track-walker, who assisted him to the telegraph office where medical aid was summoned. The men in the meantime had walked the tracks almost down to Morrisville when they met a hobo and proceded to hold him up, but did not get anything from him. The hobo ran to Morrisville and gave the alarm and while telling his story to Constable Mason, the men appeared. The constable immediately went after them and informed them that they were under arrest but they pulled their guns and as he was unarmed at the time, they rapidly disappeared up toward the cut off A searching party was hastily organized but they could not be found Word had been wired along the line for the company's officers to be on the lookout for the men and a freight train that had left the yards was ordered to run into Downing town, where a posse of detectives were waiting, instead of stopping on the outskirts as is the custom. The detectives boarded the train as soon as it stopped and in the sixth car from the engine one of the men, who proved to be a well known crook named Sullivan, was found and taken without much trouble, but when they reached the other two they opened fire on the officers and made their escape. Constable Mason recognized the leader of the gang as "Skinner" Firman, a young man well known in this section. Sullivan was brought here Sunday and at a hearing before Justice W. G Howell, was committed to Doylestown without bail, where he was taken Tuesday.

Bradstreet's states that the wages of 50,000 iron workers in the rolling mills of the country have just been increased.

The Perkasie News says Dr. D. M. Landis has sold his locomobile to Charles Keller, of Philadelphia." And thus another Congressional boom has vanished into obscurity.

The output of gold in South Africa has steadily increased since the arts of peace have been again resumed. In the Rand mines the product has increased from 50,000 ounces, last December, to 150,000 ounces in June, valued at about $3,000,000.

Bumper crops of corn and oats and liberal yields of rice and barley, hay and fruits are predicted by the Department of Agriculture. The area in corn is about 4 per cent larger than that of last year, and crop conditions for this grain are fine. Continuing favorable conditions may result in record-breaking crops of possibly 2,600,000,000 bushels of corn and 900,000,000 bushels of oats. Wheat prospects are for a total yield of 638,000,000 bushels.

The influence of the United States as a world power is seen in the result of the recent appeal made to Washington by China to use American influence to cause the evacuation of Tientsin by foreign soldiers in conformity with the agreement made at Pekin It is alleged by the Chinese government that the foreign officers limited the number of Chinese police allowed in the city with the idea of having the job themselves of keeping order at remunerative salaries. Secretary Hay acted with promptness, and the powers have agreed to instuct their generals to abandon the conditions complained of by China.

Next year it will become necessary to nominate a candidate to succeed Hon. Harman Yerkes as judge of the common pleas court of Bucks county. The proposition is already beginning to be agitated and the sentiment in the lower end of the county, wherever the topic is discussed, seems to be universally in favor of the election of Henry Lear, Esq., of Doylestown. Mr. Lear is a lawyer possessed of a judicial frame of mind, and, while a Republican, is entirely free from political entanglements. He is one of the recognized leaders of the bar and has every qualification, natural and cultured, to make a worthy successor to the presen incumbent.

The Railway Age, in reviewing the conditions of the railways of the United States at thee end of the first half of 1902, shows that never before have the roads been in such a prosperous condition. The total mileage under receivership is but 2,310 miles, with an aggregate capital of $61,000,000, showing a steady reduction since the disastrous year 1894, the panic year, due to the Cleveland free-trade regime, when 40,800 miles of railroads were in the hands of receivers with an aggregate capital of $2,500,000,000. The comparison of these two sets of figures affords a striking picture of the manner in which the railroads have participated in the country's general prosperity.

The Doylestown Intelligencer, which has nearly reached the century mark, prides itself upon the accuracy of its items historical. In a recent issue that paper said.

Two years hence Morrisville will be one hundred years old as a borough. It was incorporated in 1804, and is the oldest borough in Bucks county.

Bristol is not only the oldest town in Bucks county but is one of the oldest in the State. Bristol was incorporated into a borough by letters pattent from the crown in 1720. The town was laid out in 1697 but was not incorporated into a borough until the former date, eighty-four years prior to the organization of the Borough of Morrisville.

Our highly steamed contemporary, the Doylestown Democrat, is fired up and making its usual pre-election "hot air" observances. The Democrat had a vision last week and professes that

It has been many years since the outlook for a Democrtic victory in a political contest in Pennsylvania has been more promising than it is this year for the election of Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan, for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, respectively, of the State.

It's a pretty tough job to edit a Democratic organette in this enlightened age and we suppose that our contemporary at the county seat should be the object of commiseration, rather than criticism for its foolish political asseverations.

Every available property in Bristol, suitable for the habitation of man, is occupied and a hundred more houses would find ready tenants. Workingmen and their families coming to the borough can find no place to set up a house of their own. Often the question is asked why an active board of trade is not organized for the purpose of inducing new industries to locate here? Instead of attracting strangers, a warning would be more in order for them to stay away. Houses that will rent from $8 to $12 per month would be a paying investment, and an individual or syndicate that would build fifty houses as a starter could find no better source from which to derive an income. The time is coming when something in the building line must be done, or else build a fence around the town.

The editor of the esteemed Perkasie News is sadly in need of a vacation, and we recommend a visit to the mountains of Luzerne, where the shadows of even-tide bring rest and comfort to the tired body and weary brain; where the beautiful orb of night kisses the hills to slumber and where peeping day is ushered in with sweet music of birds; where limpid streams tumble along in their rifted courses and where the woods beckon welcome to frotted humanity. There the canker-worm of care is cured; the sea of trouble is smoothed and tortured man learns to purr as a kitten at the hearthside. That the Perkasie editor needs a change is evident from the following symptoms:

These are dog days—and cat nights, fly time, mosquito revelry, horse talk, campmeeting periods, picnic epochs and germ pallies.

Charles Shaw, of Bridgeton township, who is a Republican candidate for Recorder of Deeds, makes his announcement in today's Gazette. Mr. Shaw is a resident of Upper Blacks Eddy and is the postmaster of the village. He was a visitor to Bristol on Tuesday and feels confident that he has secured sufficient pledges to insure his nomination.

The rational action of the joint meeting of the coal miners held at Indianapolis has undoubtedly been a great disappointment to the Anthracite trust. The great army of miners feel strong in the consciousness of right and the brotherhood of the union is exemplified as a real quality when the works will contribute so freely from their earnings to assist in the great struggle which the hard coal men are making against a powerful corporation.

Anent Minister Wu's retirement from Washington, it is remembered that he insisted from the time Pekin was isolated from the rest of the world, that the American, English, and other foreign embassies were safe, and his faith in this belief remained unbroken, even when practically all hope had been given up by our officials To Mr. Wu Secretary Hay entrusted the message to Minister Conger, which was delivered in that time of horror through Mr Wu's good relations with the southren Viceroys, and through him the State Department received in cipher the response which thrilled the nation like a voice from the grave, and gave to the world the first official news that the foreign representatives were still alive

Governor Taft is holding important conferences with the Pope on the friars question in the Philippines. This subject is developing some little trouble The Vatican is stated as opposing the expulsion of the friars from the Philippines, whereas the United States is determined upon such a course Governor Taft, other officials, and a mass of testimony have shown that these friars have been responsible for a large amount of the trouble among the natives, that they are narrow, bigoted, and intolerant of any of the improvements or innovations which the United States is introducing in the islands for the good of the natives, and that while they hold some influence over some of the natives they are detested and hated by them, the latter believing that they have been robbed in wholesale fashion by the friars Governor Taft has a nice piece of diplomatic work on hand, but his attitude and that of this country is very firm on this point.

Archbishop Ireland, in an address before the National Educational Association, made a strong plea for truth telling in the newspapers. He charged the 'yellow-sheets'' with being largely responsible for the outbreak of hostilities with Spain, and denounced their 'unguarded and reckless'' stories from the Philippines 'purporting to tell of dreadful deeds of cruelty and injustice for which, on examination, no foundation in fact is found '' He characterized the newspaper as the greatest educator of the day, and pleaded for truth in its publication. Had Mr. Ireland attempted to enumerate the instances of wilful lying and the creation of scandals and outrageous stories out of nothing, his task would have been an impossible one. Such yellow papers as the New York Journal, the New York World, and the Chicago American, have all too large a reading circle for the good of the country. The number of such papers, while their influence is considerable, is, however, small, probably bearing about the ratio that the common slanderer and liar bears to the balance of humanity. The majority of newspapers, newspapers managers, and newspaper men can be justly described, as Mr Ireland says, as "honest and honorable, one of the nation's most precious inheritances," as against the few who 'place notoriety and pelf above truth and virtue."

The Trust and Democracy.

From the Boston Transcript.

In the address which he delivered before the economic section of the American association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. H. T. Newcomb, vigorously combated the charge that the trust movement is dangerous to democracy. He denied that the movement tends to promote concentration of wealth. Its effect, he maintained, is precisely the opposite. The trusts are bringing about ever wider diffusion or wealth and are thus ushering in a new type of industrial democracy, in which every man may become part owner in great business undertakings. It cannot be denied that there is some basis for Mr. Newomb's optimist c prophecy concerning the future trend of the trust movement. That the corporation makes it possible for the person of small means to share in the profits of large enterprises has long been recognized as one of the distinctive advantages of this form of business organization.

But at present the diffusion of wealth through the trust movement is a potentiality rather than an actuality, at least so far as the ordinary laborer is concerned. Thus far the profits of coporate undertakings have gone chiefly to swell the fortunes of a comparatively few large capitalists. To be sure, many small capitalists also have invested their savings in railway and industrial securities. But it may be asserted with some confidence that only an insignificant percentage of the laboring class is represented among the shareholders of the great corporations. The interesting project attributed to Mr. Morgan of giving to the employes of the United States Steel corporation the opportunity to purchase stock at inside prices is a tacit admission that the laborers are not at present shareholders in the company. Ultimately the trust movement may bring about a more general diffusion of wealth, as Mr. Newcomb contends, but hitherto the tendency has been rather toward greater concentration.

Nights Enough to Daze.

A group of Philadelphia politicians and city employes were chatting one day recently in front of the Betz Building when the talk turned on the decorating of P. A. B. Widener and J. Pierpont Morgan by the Kaiser. Tim O'Leary, the detective, who was in the crowd, said, in comment

"I wonder if Pete remembers the story he used to tell about titles and such in the old sheep-killing days? He thought it pretty funny then. It was that a deadbroke Britisher was trying to 'bum' a drink from an Irish bartender, and went at it this way:

"'Of course, you don't know me, old fellah; but in England I'm Sir Francis Daffy, Knight of the Garter, Knight of the Bawth, Knight of the Double Eagle, Knight of the Golden Fleece, and Knight of the Golden Cross."

"'What av it?' asked the barkeep. 'I'm Terrence Murphy, th' noight afore last, th' noight afore that, las' noight, toonoight, too-morrer noiht an' iviry other'r noight—Terrence Murphy!'"

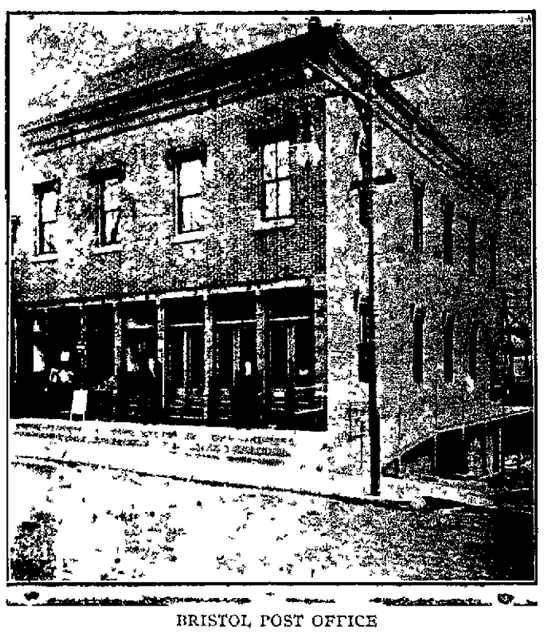
THE BRISTOL POST OFFICE.

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN METHOD OF HANDLING MAIL —THE NEW BUILDING —INCREASE IN BUSINESS.

One of the greatest improvements that has been made in Bristol in recent years has been effected at the local postoffice. From a little dingy box which was dignified by the name of postoffice, the government business has been removed to and is now transacted in a handsome three story brick building that was erected especially for the purpose. For fourteen years the mail was handled at the little office on Mill street, but when E. W Minster was appointed postmaster in 1899 he began to cast about for better quarters, and for better accommodations for the people. Two years ago Congressman Wanger was sent for and invited to come and view the premises, and when the Representative of the then Seventh District, saw the inconveniences and difficulties to which the patrons and officials of the office were subjected, he then and there resolved that Bristol was entitled to something far better in the Postoffice line.

Mr. Wanger's long experience in Congress and his familiarity with the details of Department work enabled him to proceed directly in the matter, and the handsome structure and perfect arrangements for handling the mails are the results

The business done at the postoffice is a faitful indicator of the currents of municipal life. During times of depression or inactivity the lack of impulse is immediately felt at the government's postal stations Prosperity, progress and expansion is likewise registered The welfare of the borough of Bristol is dependent upon the prosperity of its many and varied industries That the factories and mills during the past three or four years, have been enjoying an unprecedented era of good times," is evidenced in the postoffice receipts. The industries are all running full time and the cry still goes up for more help.



BRISTOL POST OFFICE

GROWTH OF THE OFFICE.

When Mr. Minster was appointed postmaster in April 1899, that official's annual salary was $1900 per year. For clerk hire the government allowed $250 and $60 for light and heat, making a total of $2210. The office was then in the third class.

After the Presidential election in 1900 when it was forever settled that no wild system of finance would be foisted upon the country and that the happy trade relations existing would not be disturbed, a new life stirred the borough. The mills were crowded with orders and business flowed in from all directions. Factories commenced increasing their capacity for turning out manufactured products and everyone wishing work has been given employment, until today the need of additional help is so great that agents are being sent to the mining regions for the purpose of inducing striking miners and their families to move here. This great prosperity in the mills has had its effect upon the postoffice, and, as a consequence the office has advanced from the third to the second class. The substantial increase in the volume of business has added materially to the salary of the postmaster and to the allowances for clerk hire. While formerly the office supported but one clerk whose compensation had to come largely from the postmaster's salary, now three clerks are employed whose salaries are entirely paid by the government. The office force now consists of the postmaster with a salary of $2300; assistant postmaster $1000; registration clerk, $700, and stamping clerk, $400 In addition to the above salaries

The postoffice building is one of the handsomest and most convenient of its kind, in any town of the size of Bristol. It was erected by William E. Doron, expressly for the purpose The structure is a three story brick, 38x60 feet. The second story, which is on a level with Radcliffe street, contains the postoffice, the room for that purpose being 20x60 feet, and is completely equipped with up to date furniture and fixtures, placed by the Corbin Cabinet Lock Company. Ample space has been provided for the lobby and patrons of the office are expeditiously waited upon at three windows, one for general delivery one for the box customers and a stamp, register and money order window. The office is provided with six hundred letter boxes. The building is heated with steam and lighted with electricity and gas. A telephone pay station is located in the office and every convenience has been provided for the frequenters of the office. The building is equipped with an automatic fire and burglar alarm system which has an underground connection with the police station.

After visiting here upon a recent tour Inspector Waddel declared that the Bristol office was one of the handsomest and most conveniently arranged offices in the State.

POSTMASTER E. W. MINSTER.

The high standard reached by the Bristol office is largely due to the efforts of Postmaster Minster, who has spared no effort to obtain every convenience for the patrons of the office. In this he has been heartily supported by Congressman Wanger who has taken a personal interest in the matter and who in a quiet but effectual way, has set the wheels in motion that has turned the Bristol office from one of the poorest in the country to one of the finest.

A FINE LODGE ROOM.

The upper story and basement are leased by Fidelity Council No. 21 Jr. O. U. A. M. and have been fitted up as a lodge room and banquet hall respectively. The lodge room is sub-let by the lessees and is occupied by the following organizations: Nonpareil Council Royal Arcanum; Shepherds' Delight Lodge Shepherds of Bethlehem; Martha Washington Chamber Order Knights of Friendship; Bristol Council Daughters of America. Fidelity Council is a patriotic organization and is composed very largely of young men. It was instituted November 29th 1882, with thirty charter members but has now grown to be one of the largest organizations in the town having a membership at present of 230. During the last twelve years this society has presented fifteen flags to the public schools of Bristol and vicinity and seventeen books to the local schools. The council is in an excellent condition financially being worth, at last report, over $11,000. The leading officers of the organization are as follows Councilor, Harry Sheppard, Secretary, Harry Lyndall; Treasurer, W. L Johnson; Trustees, Ellis E. Ratcliffe, John P. Kessler, George H. Schock.

Announcement of Calvin F. Heckler.

Calvin F. Heckler, Esq., of Quakertown, announces in the Gazette's advertising columns this week that he has entered the race for the Republican Assembly nomination. Mr. Heckler is a lawyer by profession and is well known to the Republicans of the upper end of the county. He issues the following letter to the Republicans of the county

Quakertown, Pa., July 23rd, 1902.

The encouragement and favorable responses to my letter of March, 1902, submitting the availability of my candidacy to many active workers of the Republican party throughout the county, induces me now to formally announce myself as a candidate for the Legislature for the Upper District of Bucks county

If I should be nominated and elected to bear your commission to the Legislature I would earnestly strive to be a creditable Representative I would endeavor to faithfully represent your wishes, guard the county's interests, and insist on a fair allotment of the offices and emoluments for deserving ones who have worked long and faithfully for the party. My vote and sympathies will always be with the farmers and working classes Prevailing public conditions conclusively demonstrate the immediate and urgent necessity for more stringent legislation, that will abate and prevent public evils such as the meat, coal, and kindred trusts. The rapacious encroachments of trusts should be halted, the relations between labor and capital readjusted on the lines of equity, taxation should be equalized.

As it would be a physical impossibility to make a house to house canvass before the convention, notwithstanding my desire to do so, I request every Republican voter of the county to consider this a personal solicitation

For the past twenty years I have labored for the Republican party and always stood loyally by its flag. Never during that time have I been false to its principles, its cause or any of its candidates. I have made both personal and financial sacrifices in behalf of the party and its candidates without reward or remuneration.

Hoping to receive your favorable consideration and active support, I remain,

Very Truly Yours,
C F HECKLER.

Conquered Another Field.

From Chicago comes the news that woman has conquered still another field over which man formally reigned supreme. She is now employed in the stockyards in Chicago, the last place in the world that one would expect to find her. To be sure, she does not actually slaughter the animals but even that may come in time. In the packing and canning factories some thousands of women have taken the places of men; if the business grows as it has done in the last three years, thousands more will find positions. The work is light, is technically called 'kitchen work'' and consists in cutting of dried beef, packing of cans, stuffing of sausages, etc.

A new concrete pavement is being put in by the No. 1 Fire Company around their property at the corner of Wood and Market streets. The company also intends painting the building.

About eleven hundred persons enjoyed the moonlight excursion to Washington Park last evening which was given under the auspices of the American Mechanics, Daughters of Liberty and Sons of Temperance.

Michael Kelley, aged 58 years, died at his home on Spruce street on Friday of heart disease. The deceased was a shoemaker by trade. The funeral took place on Tuesday, interment being at St. Mark's cemetery.

The roll call at the First Baptist Church Cedar and Walnut, was a most delightful evening spent in social conversation and enjoyment of refreshments provided by the ladies of the church. The address of Rev. Charles E. McClellan, D. D., pastor of Fairhill Baptist Church, of Philadelphia, was a masterly outline of what a Christian can accomplish for Christ and the church and was enjoyed by all present. Mr. McClellan is an old friend of the pastor.

A remarkable accident occurred at the Lafayette street crossing yesterday morning at 4.30 o'clock, when the horse attached to Harry Phipps' milk wagon was struck by a fast freight and killed, but the driver was unhurt and not a drop of milk was spilled. There being no gate tender at the crossing from midnight until 6 a. m. and the noise of the rolling mill preventing the sound of the approaching train, Harry started across the track when a westbound fast freight struck the horse and hurled the animal twenty-five feet. The shafts were torn from the wagon but the vehicle remained in an upright position. The front wheels were turned around and the wagon pushed to one side. Had the wagon been a foot further on the track Mr. Phipps would undoubtedly have suffered great injury if not death.

A Family Reunion.

On Sunday a family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison, corner Swain and Otter streets, in honor of the aged couple's fifty-first wedding anniversary. The affair was managed entirely by the children and was a complete surprise to the parents, until the guests began to arrive. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Harrison celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in an elaborate manner, Mohican Hall having been engaged for the occasion and several hudred guests being in attendance. This year the children were unwilling that the event should pass by without recognition and accordingly arranged a pleasant surprise for their parents. Mr. Harrison is 75 years of age and Mrs. Harrison 69. The venerable couple conduct a grocery store at the corner of Swain and Otter streets and enjoy the respect and esteem of all with whom they come in contact. Those present at the celebration on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison, Mrs. Mary King, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Banes, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Morris D. A dividend of ten per cent was declared.

Death of Miss Doyle.

Miss Catherine I. Doyle, daughter of Thomas Doyle, died at her home, 233 Otter street, on last Thursday of consumption. The deceased was sixteen years of age and her untimely death is mourned by a large circle of relatives, friends and acquaintances. She was a consistent member of St. Mark's Church, and belonged to the Angels' Sodality. The funeral took place on Monday morning and was largely attended. High Mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock. Father Fitzgerald was the celebrant and he delivered a beautiful funeral oration. The interment was in St. Mark's graveyard.

Comfort in a Runaway.

While Lon Comfort was driving in West Bristol township on last Thursday evening, the britching strap broke and the horse becoming frightened ran away, throwing the driver out into the road. The animal ran into Bristol at breakneck speed. At the Mill street canal bridge it just missed running into the gates, which were rising after the passing of a fast line. In attempting to turn the corner at Mill and Wood streets, the horse ran up on the pavement on the side of B. C. Foster's residence, where one of the front wheels hooked itself around a tree and the animal was brought to a sudden stop. Lon was severely shaken up as a result of the accident but sustained no serious injury. The carriage was only slightly damaged.

Board of Health Wants $1000.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bristol Board of Health was held on Monday evening, when bills amounting to $204.33 were presented for doctor's attention, food and medicine furnished in smallpox cases. In the matter of the bill of Groff & Thompson for meat and groceries furnished at the quarantined home of Thomas Rogers, Franklin street, covering a period of 33 days, to the amount of $51.27, the President of the Board declared he notified Mr. Groff that the Board would allow 50 cents per day to his firm, as the family had been authorized to purchase goods to the amount of 50 cents daily from Michael Christopher, another groceryman. A dollar a day was deemed sufficient for meat and groceries as there were out four in the family, one a new born baby and another its mother who was suffering with a malignant case of smallpox. Groff & Thompson's bill of $51.27 was cut down to $16.50 as the amount for which the Board would issue an order and Christopher's bill of $23.60 for the same family was reduced to $17.00. The Board will ask council for an additional appropriation of $1000 to include amount overdrawn and with which to pay prospective bills which will be incurred in cleaning up the small pox cases.

Big Increase in Capital Stock.

The Corona Kid Company, whose enamelled leather factory has grown to be one of the biggest industries in Bristol, has increased its capital stock from $20,000 to $200,000. Clifford L. Anderson, who has been the manager of the Bristol plant, has been made vice-president of the company, B. E. Baker, of Boston, is the president and treasurer of the concern and C. Q. Adams, also of Boston, is secretary.

Mr. Anderson, who is a young man but 31 years of age, has had the sole management of the factory at Bristol, and in four years, under his direct supervision the business has had a phenomenal growth, until today Corona Kid has a reputation throughout the country. When Mr. Anderson came here to take charge of the little tumble-down property of the old rubber mill, where some experiments had been made in enamelling leather, the outlook was far from cheering. He started operations with about a half dozen men, and from then until today the business has been one of remarkable expansion. Addition after addition has been erected until now it is one of the largest factories in town, and 250 hands are employed. Three new buildings are now in the course of erection and when finished will give employment to one hundred more people. Five acres of adjoining land were purchased a few weeks ago, making 30 acres now possessed by the company.

Merchants' Association Formed.

Judging from the well-represented and enthusiastic meeting held on Monday evening, the retail merchants of Bristol are going to adopt a sensible course and on the first four days of the week close their stores at 6.30 o'clock p. m. Its success depends entirely upon the unanimity of the movement. The grocery, dry goods and meat men are the ones that are interested in the project.

The preliminary meeting was held on Monday evening in the parlors of the No. 2 Hose Company, with about twenty-five dealers present. Richard Myers was made temporary chairman after which a premanent organization was effected, entitled the Retail Merchants' Association of Bristol. The following officers were elected; John Wear, President; Charles Wright, secretary and treasurer. A number of storekeepers who were unable to be present sent word that they were in sympathy with the objects of the meeting and would agree to whatever was done.

A committee of eight was appointed to get up a form of agreement for all members to sign and visit the few who did not respond to the invitation to be present on Monday evening. The association intends to thoroughly advertise the hours of closing appending the signatures of those who sign the argeement. It has been the habit of most of the Bristol storekeepers to keep open every night until a late hour, thus making the business real slavery. It is for the purpose of lessening the hours of labor without sustaining any pecuniary loss, that the merchants are combining for mutual benefit. If all agree the movement will be success. Another meeting will be held at the No. 2 company's house house on next Monday evening to which all merchants are cordially invited.

RAILROAD COMPANY ENJOINED.

RESULT OF THE CROYDEN RIOT—THE OPINION OF THE COURT.

Judge Weand on Friday filed his opinion in the case of the Bucks County Heat, Light & Power Company against the Philadelphia & Trenton Railroad, et al., continuing the injuction and ordering the plaintiffs to file their bond, which the defendants have heretofore refused to accept. The opinion was on a motion to continue the injuction granted the plaintiff, restraining the railroad company from interfering with them in the erection of their poles and wires at Croydon station for the purpose of furnishing power for the Neshaminy Elevated Railroad.

THE LAW IN THE CASE.

The law governing companies which supply heat, light or power to consumers gives them the right of eminent domain and they are enabled after following certain procedures, to plant their poles and string wires as may be necessary for the proper supplying of such consumers. The law provides, however, that wherever the parties in interest are unable to come to an agreement as to damage sustained, or that may be sustained, a bond shall be filed in court for the protection of the party upon whose property the heat, light or power company shall find it necessary to enter. These bonds shall be sufficient to cover any and all damages in the case. The court will then appoint, within twenty days, a board of viewers who shall inspect the property upon which the heat, light or power company has encroached, and in report shall state specifically the amount of damage done or that may be done by the operation of the heat, light and power system, taking in mind the advantages which will accrue to the property because of the public improvement. This report, after it has been approved by the court, is the basis of settlement between the parties involved in the controversy.

DAMAGES ARE LIGHT.

In this instance the amount of damages which may be assessed against the Bucks County Heat, Light and Power Company will, in all probability, be so small as to amount to comparatively nothing. The distance over which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company attempted to exercise control, notwithstanding the fact that the law gave the other corporation the right of eminent domain and the fact that a sufficient bond had been offered to cover any and all damages, is so short that the damage must be extremely small.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

In the opinion, Judge Weand says:

"In order to build its station at Croydon the railroad company condemned part of the turnpike company's road and to supply its place it purchased land from Henry L. Gaw. The turnpike runs around the station. On the north side of the supplied turnpike and sixty feet from the railroad property and two feet from the fence line plaintiffs have erected four poles on which to string wires.

"On the 3d of July, 1902, whilst the plaintiffs' employes were engaged in the work of erecting the poles and stringing their wires they were met by the employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company who, with force and after protestation and resistance, tore down the the poles and wires. The description of the occurrences as detailed by the witness, W. R. Molinard, justifies the granting of the injunction. Its continuence depends upon the legal status of the parties.

"The plaintiffs have a valid charter which gives them the right to go upon a highway. The question has been raised as to the kind of ownership which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company claims to possess in the supplied part of the turnpike. We do not think it material at this stage of the cause to discuss that question. For the purpose of the case we will concede that it is an abutting owner and that the question then for decision is as to the right of plaintiff to plant their poles on the side of the turnpike without consent of the defendant. The right to do so was affirmed my colleague Judge Swartz.

"I am not disposed to differ with their conclusions and can add nothing to their reasons except to refer to the act allowing telegraph and telephone companies rights upon the road without consent of the owner of the land. The acts allowing recovery of damages in such cases is significant of the intent of the Leigslature to grant such privileges.

"In this case plaintiffs have the consent of the turnpike company and have entered into contracts to supply heat and power to others. Since granting the injunction the poles and wires have been restored and we can see no danger of any injury to the defendants. Under the circumstances it would be inequitable to destroy the franchise of the plaintiffs by allowing the defendants to thus maintain their contention in the summary and violent manner attempted, and put in execution. Under the authority of the above cited cases we will continue the injunction until final hearing."

Suits for Damages.

Following the action of Judge Weand, in the Bucks County Court, in continuing the injunction against the Pennsylvania Railroad restraining it from interfering with the Bucks County Heat, Light and Power Company in erecting its poles and wires along the Frankford and Bristol turnpike past Croydon station, George Q. Horwitz, council for the Bucks County Company, has instituted three suits for damages against the Pennsylvania Railroad, aggregating $50,000, besides causing warrants to be issued for the arrest of two of the company's officials.

These civil and criminal suits are the outcome of the attack several weeks ago of Pennsylvania Railroad employes, led by Supervisor Rhodes, upon employes of the Heat, Light and Power Company while stringing poles and wires near Croydon station, which was described in the Gazette. The damage suits are entered in the Philadelphia courts as follows: In Common Pleas Cort, No. 4, suit by W. R. Molinard, superintendent of the Heat, Light and Power Comany, for $5000 for personal injuries received at that time; in the same court, suit by James L. Fraizer, assistant superintendent of the company, who had an arm broken and was otherwise injured at the time, for $20,000 damages; in Common Pleas Court, No. 2, suit for $25,000 damages, in behalf of the Bucks County Heat, Light and Power Comany for destruction of property, injury to employes and preventing the company from carrying out its contracts.

The criminal action which is to be directed against certain officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be upon the charge of being accessories before the fact in connection with the assault on the Bucks County company's employes.

Appleton-Speak Wedding.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Speak, corner of Jefferson avenue and Wood Street, was the scene of an interesting event on the evening of July 12, 1902. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Ella May, the eldest unmarried daughter of the host and hostess, to John Howard Appleton, of Bristol. A large company of relatives and friends were present and the ceremony was preformed by the Rev. Alexander Alison, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church. After the congratulations and expressions of best wishes by all present the bride's cake was broken and a most attractive table enjoyed by the guests. Among those present were Mrs. Thomas Mushert, the Sabbath school teacher, for years, of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stuckert and Mrs. Alexander Alison. Mrs. Stuckert added to the ceremony by presiding at the organ and rendering the Wedding March as the bridal party approached the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Appleton will make their home in Bristol.

Mr. Westside: "Is Briggs still paying attention to your sister?" Eastside: "Naw—they've been married this two months!"

Clocks can be looked upon as the most lasting articles of personal property. They rarely change hands.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

There are now 31 inmates of the Bucks county jail including two females. Thirteen are awaiting trial at September Court.

The Durham Cave so highly appreciated by local scientists as well as others, is doomed to destruction and will exist only in memory. Workmen are busily engaged in blasting it away, thus removing a wonderful natural curiosity attraction.

Whenever the cars run over a farmer's cow, it is always a thoroughbred the company is called upon to pay for. All stock becomes thoroughbred after being run over by a train. There is nothing that so improves the blood of stock so much as being crossed by a locomotive.

The financial statement submitted at the last meeting of Doylestown Circle, Brotherhood of the Union, shows a condition of much prosperity. It has a membership of 76, with $1,000 at interest. But $20 were paid out in benefits during the past year, while the income for the last six months was $200.

The watering troughs on some farms are never scrubbed and have a slimy appearance. They are breeding places for disease, as any disease affecting a single animal is more easily communicated to the others through the drinking water than in any other manner. While it may be impossible to prevent the animals from drinking from the same source, yet every trough should be cleaned daily.

Inventories of personal property have been filed in the Register's office in the following decendent estates: Henry S. Haldeman, late of Southampton, amounting to $3,770.64; John N. Weidamoyer, late of Quakertown, $239.62; George Flowers, late of Langhorne, $25,999.78; Mary Tierney, late of Bristol, $55.25; Mary Ann Schermerhorn, late of Newhope, $68.60.

Workmen of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Traction Company on Friday began planting the poles for the line which is to be built from Newtown to Yardley. Work was begun in the former borough, where an ordinance will expire within a few weeks, and, it is confidently expected, will be pushed to an early completion so as to avoid the necessity of asking the borough authorities for an extension of time.

B. Frank Knabb, who was engineer on the trolley road from Bristol to Doylestown during the period of its building, but who has been down in Honduras, Central America, for the past year, in the employ of the Ulna Commercial Company and the Olancha Mineral Company, returned to Newtown on the 17th inst. where he is recovering from a recent spell of sickness. From there he will go to the home of his mother, near Birdsboro, Berks county, where he will recuperate his health before returning South. Mr. Knabb remembered several of his friends, presenting them with fine specimens of Panama hats, which he brought up with him. He left the Porte on July 3d.

An application for a charter for the Merchants National Bank, of Quakertown, with a capital of $50,000, is now in the hands of the authorities at Washington. Quite a breeze has been stirring under the surface in financial circles in Quakertown over this project. The matter has been conducted with strict secrecy with a view of completing the organization before it was given to the public. This has practically been effected by the selection of the following board of directors: James H. Shelly, of Richlandtown; Henry H. Souder, John V. Ommeren, Esq., Oliver R. Scheetz, M. B. Feliman, John Z. Rufe, of Quakertown; Nathan C. Roeder, Spinnerstown; M. F. Achey, Milford Square; Zeno W. Weierback, Pleasant Valley; Joseph W. Reiter, Trumbauersville and Henry S. Mills, of Springtown.

Railroad companies should not insist too strenuously on their legal rights so long as their material rights are not encroached upon, according to a statement of Judge Weand, of Montgomery county, when the trouble between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Lehigh Valley Traction Company was revived in court by N. H. Larzelere, counsel for the trolley company, who asked that the preliminary injunction heretofore granted be dissolved, and, unless exceptions be filed within the time allowed by the equity rules, the bill be dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff. He desired this that the trolley company might continue work under the Trenton cut-off railroad bridge, near Fortside Inn. Judge Weand, in refusing the motion to modify, said these technical objections against trolley companies only tend to establish them in popular favor, "I think railroad companies ought to let well enough alone," he said. "If they do not, I think the time will soon come when people will tire of this senseless litigation, and rise up and elect a Legislature that will grant greater franchises and give more powers to the trolley corporations.

Chasing Rainbows.

The "heirs" to the estate of James Wood held another meeting in Philadelphia on Saturday and considered their claims to the alleged vast fortune which is awaiting claimants in England. George Wright, of Bristol, presided at the meeting. The result of the prolonged session of the fortune hunters was the appointment by Chairman Wright of E. F. Dudley, W. Ellison, J. Foster Smith, John Stephenson and John S. Wood as a committee to investigate the claims in England. If it be found necessary the attorney will be accompanied by one of the "heirs" who is best informed on the question.

One of the heirs had written to the State Department at Washington, D. C., asking if the government was in possession of any facts relative to the unclaimed estates due American heirs, which were lying in the Court of Chauncery in England.

The reply which he received was of a character calculated to satisfy most people that the claims of American heirs to fortunes left by English ancestors are in almost every instance fictitious and have been devised by scheming lawyers to draw money from the unsuspecting and easily misled American public. The letter stated that the government had made a careful and exhaustive investigation, finding that the so-called claims were simply the pettifoggery schemes of unscrupulous lawyers and felt called upon to warn the public against placing any confidence in those widely circulated advertisements for American claimants to English estates. Enclosed in the letter was a printed copy of the American consul's report regarding the matter in which one statement is of especial interest. Years ago the British Parliament passed a law to the effect that after funds of unclaimed estates had remained in the Court of Chancery for twelve years without the appearance of legal claimants, said funds should revert to the Crown. This, if in the preset case, there was primarily a deposit of the Wood estate in the Court of Chancery, the statue of limitations would now pre-clude the possibility of ever obtaining even a portion of it. Although the letter was read to the heirs on Saturday, they refused to credit its contents, and appointed a committee investing them with power to send a lawyer to England to investigate their claims. It could seem that the time has now come when the heirs to this estate should realize how they have been duped and desist in their efforts before they become the laughing stock of the whole country.

Bristol Houses a Good Investment.

Bristol mill owners report their inability to secure sufficient help, and give for reason that there are no houses for rent. If this is the state of affairs now, what will it be when the additions to plants are completed. We have both lots and houses for sale at reasonable prices, in the choicest section of the town, and will build as rapidly as we find sale for the finished properties.

The Rug and the Room.

A rug on the floor not only makes the room look attractive but the work of the housewife is lessened. for a rug can be taken up and cleaned thoroughly in a few moments while the same can not be done with any other floor covering. A rug on the floor, therefore, adds greatly to the health of the room or apartment—it is always clean. A good rug costs less than good carpet. Its cleaner, looks better. That's why so many of the best homes are carpeted with rugs. The Hygiene Rug Co., whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue of the Gazette, 607 Bourse Building, Philadelphia, makes a specialty of manufacturing and selling rugs that are well made in beautiful and artistic patterns of great variety. They will be pleased to send readers of this paper a catalogue describing their rugs. Send stamp with your address. They will send you something worth knowing.

Gun Club Shoot.

The ninth monthly shoot of the Bristol Gun Club was held on Burlington Island on last Saturday afternoon. Only four members participated in the match. The contest was close and spirited, however, and was finally won by George Bruden. Only one match remains in the series to determine the winner of the gold medal. Ellis Ratcliffe is at the head of the list, having won three matches. John Allen follows with two matches to his credit. Should the latter fail to win the next match Ratcliffe will win the medal even though he may lose in the final contest. Saturday's score follows:

J.M'L'gh'n,	01101	11100	11011	01110—13
G. Bruden,	10111	01011	11110	11101—15

H. Ratcliffe,	00110	11111	01011	00111—13

In two sweepstake matches which followed the main event, George Bruden won the first and Jesse and Harry McLaughlin tied in the second, dividing the stakes.

BASE BALL

GOOD WILL AGAIN DEFEATED.

Somerton defeated Good Will last Saturday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2. After the Good Will team had Somerton shut out, 2 to 0, for seven innings, Somerton came in in the eighth and made three runs on two errors, a hit batsman and two hits. Good Will had a good chance to tie the score in the ninth with three men on bases, but the next three batters hit flies and retired the side. The game was one of the finest played at Persimmon Park this season, being characterized by fast fielding and good pitching. Rue played a fair game at second base, accepting nine out of eleven chances. Rouse's third base playing and a catch of a hot liner by W. Gallagher, in the ninth inning off of Lingerman's bat, which doubled up Knight at second, were the features. Attendance, 200. The score:

LINWOOD DEFEATED.

Bloomsdale defeated the strong Linwood base ball club, of Philadelphia, on Saturday on the former's grounds by a score of 9 to 7. In the fourth inning Dougherty dislocated his shoulder while sliding for second base and had to retire from the game. White went behind the bat, Bunting taking his place at third and Vandegrift went in to pitch.

Bloomsdale started the scoring in the second inning making two runs. Linwood tied them in their half of the third inning, but the locals went to the front in the third by scoring one run. The visitors took the lead in the fourth by scoring four runs and increased their lead in the sixth by scoring another run. In the seventh Bloomsdale went at Stevens and made him look like six lead nickels and when the inning was over the Bristol boys were one run to the good and cinched the game in the eighth by scoring another run.

Linwood could not solve Vandegrift's curves and only secured one run and no hits in the five innings he pitched. Cole put up a good game for the visitors and White carried off the honors for the home team. The score:

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valley are sometimes jeered by the goitrous inhabitans, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that it is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as a condition natural and necessary to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly functions, so a woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eats up ten years of her life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Could you do the landlord in 'The Lady of Lyons'?" asked the manager of a seedy actor. "Well, I should think I might; I have done a good many landlords."

RELICS OF EARLY DAYS.

Rail Fences and Dugout Canoes Survive Civilization's March.

One of the remarkable features of country life in America is the singular persistence of the rail fence and the dugout canoe. No matter how thickly settled a section may become or how long it may have been settled, these two survivors of early settlement linger on as stubbornly as ever. Today in the thickest settled parts of New England and New York the rail fence is met with, while the shad fishermen of the Potomac and James rivers and Chesapeake bay, on the banks of which the first English settlements in America were established, still manufacture and employ the old dugout canoe in making the rounds of their shad nets.

The dugout canoe is the simplest and most primitive water craft known and was used by prehistoric man, both in this country, Europe and Asia. It is made out of a log of wood by trimming the outside down to the proper proportions of a boat and by "digging out" the inside with an adz and by the aid of fire. The Potomac river dugout is to day pretty much the same as it was in the days of Powhatan and differs from the general run of dugout canoes in the absence of a curved bow and stern and in having rather high sides, which rise to a summit from either end of the boat, being highest in the middle, where the seat is placed.—Washington Post.

Caution!

This is not a gentle word but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

G. G. GREEN., Woodbury, N. J.

"I was to come on the stage stealthily, and say, 'Hist!'" explained the fledgeling actor. "And—" "And I said it, and I was," he mournfully concluded.

New Office Boy: "A man called here to thrash you a few minutes ago." Editor: "What did you say to him?" "I told him I was very sorry you weren't in."

GOOD LIVING

Quite often results in bad health, because what is termed "good living" is usually the gratification of the palate without reference to the nutrition of the body. When the good liver is a business man and rises from a full meal to plunge at once into work requiring mental effort the result is almost sure to be disastrous, because digestion draws upon the same nervous forces which are employed in thought. In time the stomach becomes diseased, the processes of digestion and nutrition are imperfectly performed and there is a physical breakdown.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It eliminates the effete poisonous matter which originates in the system as a consequence of imperfect digestion. It gives sound health to the whole body.

"I wish to say to the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1897, to take Dr Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever in nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Best Liniment for Strains

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter or severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected. For sale by Emlen Martin.

A Cure for Summer Complaint.

Summer complaint is usually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of ye scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy reach of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by Emlen Martin.

Mother Always Keeps it Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-three, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting the food. It is Nature's own tonic. J. E. Wright, Central Pharmacy.

"You're a fraud, sir," cried the indignant patient. "You guaranteed your medicine to cure after everything else failed, and——" "Well, my dear sir," replied the fake medicine man, "probably you haven't tried everything else."

The Same Old Story,

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderdson, N. C. For sale by Emlen Martin.

A Good Reputation.

"The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear" That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can always be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Emlen Martin.

"I am using a box of Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets and find them the best thing for my stomach I ever used," says T. W. Robinson, Justice of the Peace, Loomis, Mich. These Tablets not only correct disorders of the stomach but regulate the liver and the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Emlen Martin.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dulness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. J. E. Wright, Central Pharmacy.
